

COVID-19 Update – 22.03.2020

With cybercriminals capitalising on COVID-19 clickbait and weaknesses in remote security across the globe, now is the time to minimise the risk to your business and tackle 2020's biggest cyber-threats.

There have been reports of an increase in Phishing style emails that take advantage of remote working scenarios, reduced contact etc. So please contact us with anything if you are not 100% sure the transaction is legitimate.

These types of scams include, but are not limited to, requesting the renewal of your domain names, rest assured where we monitor, we will renew on your behalf.

We must stress that during this period IT security has to be maintained, and feel that this is a period where opportunists will attempt to take advantage of any such lapses by remote working, IE requesting change of bank details etc, so please if you're even slightly suspicious call or email us.
